From the Paris Gazette, dated April 12.

NAples, March 11. The 2 Regiments of Dentice and Caraccioli della Torella are compleat, and are to be convey'd by Sea to Lombardy, and will be furnish'd with Horses at Milan. A certain Number of Banditti who were confin'd in several Prisons in this Kingdom, are taken out to be distributed among the Garrisons of the Places on the Tuscan Coast. Two Privateers, who had Commissions from the Viceroy, having lately chac'd a Felucca that had Contraband Goods in her, till she got under the Cannon of the Fort on the Island Ponza, belonging to the Duke of Parma; would have oblig'd the Governor of the Fort to suffer them to take her, threatening otherwise to attack the Fort: But the Viceroy receiving Intelligence of it, blam'd their Conduct, and sent them order to retire and leave the Felucca at liberty.

Rome, March 17. The 12th the Ceremony of baptizing a Jew, his Wife, and Daughter, was perform'd in the Church of St. Peter. He was Conducted to the Pope's Palace cloath'd in White, by the Jesuits, who had instructed him in the Principles of the Christian Religion; his Wife and Daughter were led thither by the Duchesse of Mathei. Signior Gozzalini Secretary of the Briefs to Princes, perform'd the Ceremony of exorcising; after which they were led to the Palace where the Pope and Cardinals expected them. The Pope baptiz'd the Mother first, who had for Godfather and Godmother the Cardinal Acciaoli and the Queen of Poland. Then he baptiz'd the Daughter, whose Godfather was the Cardinal Orthoboni; and lastly the Father, to whom the same Cardinal stood Godfather as Proxy for the Great Duke of Tuscany. The Ceremony of Baptism being over, the Pope went to the Altar of St. Gregory, where he gave the Sacrament of Confirmation to the New Converts; then Te Deum was sung; after which His Holiness said Mass, and gave them the Communion. Then they were conducted to the Hall of the Consistory, where a Table was spread very magnificently. The Pope came thither, and after he had made a most pious and eloquent Exhortation to them, he gave to each of them a Purse with 100 Gold Crowns in it; and assign'd them considerable Pensions. After which he serv'd them at Table, accompanied by several Cardinals. The Grand Duke caus'd a Present to be made to the Father of a Cross set with Diamonds of great Value. Cardinal Orthoboni gave the Daughter a Diamond worth 500 Pistoles, and the next Day sent her several other Presents; and the Queen of Poland made rich Presents to the Mother. His Holiness has publish'd a Bull in favour of those Jews who shall turn Christians. The converted Jew above-mention'd came hither from Leghorne, and is a very Wealthy Man.

From the Brussels Gazette dated April 8.

Avignon, March 26. The Malecontents elevated with the Advantage they lately gain'd over the Battalion of Marines commanded by Monsieur de la Jonquiere, have committed new disorders in Languedoc, ravaging the Lands and plundering the Houses of the old Catholics. The Marshal de Montrevel, who on Advice of the Defeat of Monsieur de la Jonquiere, march'd in quest of the Rebels, and divided his Forces into several Detachments, is return'd to Nimes: He could not find the Rebels, for they were retir'd into the Woods, and among Mountains where there is no coming at them. Yet the Miquelets found some of them in a Wood, and put them to the Sword; they were cloath'd in the Habits of the Marines they had kill'd, and upon one of them were found the Cloaths of Captain Aqueville, who was one of the Marine Officers that fell in the late Action at Vesenobre. Monsieur de Lande with a Party he commands has kill'd 27 of the Rebels in several Skirmishes, has retaken 23 Mules from them, and very seasonably deliver'd 200 Soldiers of the Battallion of Jonquiere, who had retir'd into some old Castles, and must have perish'd with hunger, had he not come timely to their relief. The Marshal de Montrevel to prevent the Old Catholics, or the Knights of the Cross, from exposing themselves too rashly in their Excursions against the Rebels, has publish'd an Ordinance, by which he forbids them to meet together Arm'd, or to make any Excursions without the Permission of the Superior Officers of the Regular Troops, who are to furnish them with experienc'd Leaders.

From the Amsterdam Gazette dated April 18.

Nimes, March 31. The Camisars appear frequently in the Neighbourhood of this Town, and commit great Disorders. Such is the State of Affairs in these parts, that if some end be not speedily put to the War, the Country will be utterly ruin'd; for the New Converts dare not appear in the open Country for fear of the Catholics that are in Arms, and call themselves Knights of the Cross; nor the Old Catholics for fear of the Camisars. This has made Provisions very dear already, and thereupon an Order has been publish'd in the King's Name commanding the New Converts that have taken refuge in this Town, to return to their respective homes.

Brussels Gazette, April 11.

Namur, April 9. The Elector of Cologne receiving Advice, that the Elector of Brandenburg had given Orders for demolishing the Fortifications of the Town of Rhinberg, and that Men were actually at work to demolish them accordingly; has publish'd an Edict against the Chapter of Cologne and the other Estates of his Electorate, threatening, that if they do not use their best Endeavours to prevent the demolishing of the said Fortifications, (which he is assur'd (he says) is done at their Solicitation) he will make himself all the Reparation he can, by confiscating their Estates, and inflicting Corporal Punishment on them, whenever he shall be restor'd to his former Dignity.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, April 18.

Marseilles, March 31. We have Advice from Constantinople, that the Grand Signior has order'd 20000 Men, Veteran Troops, to march into Hungary; and that the Emperor's Minister having express'd some Dissatisfaction thereupon, was told, that it was done to hinder the Malecontents from making Incursions into the Sultran's Territories.
